

Sometimes, we would get home from a party to find the boys still fully clothed and fast asleep in any bed but their own.

---

Once in a while, we would strike upon a real gem of a baby-sitter, who would tidy up the house while waiting for us to get home.

---

We always seemed to find these girls in the week before they had to fly back home, never to return.