

Most of the girls we hired were worse than useless, and did nothing except sit on the sofa, staring at the television. Still, £20 is a small price to pay for a clear conscience.

---

I wonder how other working mums manage in the school holidays.

---

At last our baby-sitter days are behind us - and just as well, now that the holidays have begun and my wife is back at work part-time.