

I wonder what ChildLine would make of George's baby-sitting methods.

In term-time, George somehow manages to crawl out of bed in time for school. But in the holidays, he shows himself in his true colours as the laziest boy on the face of the earth.

On Tuesday, my wife had planned to go to work. The night before, George had been briefed to look after his brothers while she was away.
