

life of brian /5/ don't you mess with me

I found out that I could improve my chances of _____ distant countries by _____ to the highest point in the city. For best results, you have to go out at night and get up high. Of course, I _____ that with an autogyro I could get up higher than _____. And why shouldn't I fly at night?

So Timo and I _____ talking about building an autogyro until my father called up the stairs, "If I have to tell you one _____ time, I'm coming up there. Don't _____ me do it."

"Brian won't shut up," said Timo. That was _____. Timo was doing _____ half of the talking.

"Yes he will," said my father, "if he knows what's good for him."

You don't _____ my father when he starts getting _____ so I figured I'd better shut up. So did Timo.

For the rest of the month we would talk about the autogyro every once in a _____. Timo became very excited about the possibility of _____ pictures from an autogyro. After he realized he could do that he was a little more _____ and stopped making sarcastic _____ and calling me Brian O'Brien, Boy Pilot.

at least

climbing

enthusiastic

ever before

figured

kept

mad

make

mess with more

reaching

remarks

ridiculous

taking

while