

bs intro ③ dad vs mom

In other ways, my parents are not so ok, though. Like, I wish my dad was less strict with me. I don't think he should punish me and my brother for misbehaving as often as he does. I mean, it has always been this way and I have always hated it.

He was in the Army so he is used to giving orders. My mom is okay with it, but that's because she's had time to get used to it. But me and my brother, sometimes we just feel like fooling around and when he starts screaming at us, we wish he was dead. Well, not literally dead, just you know, gone.

Mom knows about this so whenever he gets too upset she tries to calm him down by telling him about a meal she's made or a TV show that's about to begin. Most of the time it works. When it doesn't, I'm usually the one who gets yelled at because my brother always acts like everything is my fault and dad for some reason believes him.