

frasier's break /1/ the operetta

Frasier's Apartment. It is early in the morning and Frasier is playing the piano.

Martin: Morning, Frasier. A little early for the piano, _____?

Frasier: Yes, I'm sorry _____, you know I woke up this morning thinking about that operetta I've _____. You know, the one about Robert and Elizabeth Browning. I had to _____ it.

Martin: Well, _____ you get _____ a big city. If it's not the horns waking you up it's someone writing an operetta about the Brownings.

Frasier: Well, you know, I'm _____ I've solved the problem.

Martin: _____ you, Frasier.

Frasier: But you know, I'd have to hear it to be sure. Would you _____ me with it? _____, dad, it'll _____ a minute.

Martin: Oh, all right, but I'm not doing the accent!

Frasier: Well, I'll just have to sing it with Niles later.

Martin: Oh, _____ me up.

about that » been writing » come on » get right to » good for » isn't it » living in » mind helping » only take » pretty sure » that'll cheer » that's what