

frasier's break /3/ daphne's little exercise

Daphne enters through main door, struggling with a large, heavy box.

Martin: What is all that stuff? And why are you _____ it up here?

Daphne: These are just some books Dr. Crane sent me to get from _____.

Frasier: Yes it's research I'm doing for a novel I'm planning. Gee Daphne, I was beginning to _____ what was _____ you so long.

Daphne: Well, excuse me. But I _____ have to move 3 crates, a rowing machine and a bath tub out of the way first.

Frasier: Oh well, a little exercise won't kill you, will it? Oh, look at that. The only book I really wanted was on the shelf _____. You'll have to take these back down, Daphne. And when you're _____ with that, I need you to run some _____ for me. I need some more music paper, some potting soil and an easel.

Daphne: I'd be happy _____. And then maybe after that I could _____ a bath, strip you naked and scrub you with a sponge. Would that be alright, Dr. Crane? Oh, Dr. Crane. I didn't _____ see you standing there. You look kind of _____. Well, let me get out of your _____.

already » dazed » did » done » dragging » errands » even » run » storage » taking » to » way » wonder