

So I nodded off a little. What's the big deal?
I was bored out of my mind.

Remember that thing that's been dead for a gazillion years? Well, there's this little bone we didn't know it had.

A million people went to see a movie about what I do, I wonder how many people would go see a movie called Jurassic Parka.

If what I do is so lame, then why did you insist on coming with me this morning? Was it so that I wouldn't go with Mark?

I feel like lately you're slipping away from me. You've got this whole other life going on. I know it's dumb, but I hate that I'm not a part of it.

I actually like that you're not involved in that part of my life. I'm out there on my own, and it's scary but I still love it, because it's mine.

Look, about what happened earlier...

I was gonna give you a chance to apologize to me. -- For what? For letting you throw me out of your office?

You had no right coming to my office. You do not bring a picnic basket to somebody's work!

Unless maybe they were a park ranger!

Excuse me for wanting to be with my girlfriend on our anniversary.

I don't feel like I even have a girlfriend anymore.

What do you want me to do about it? You want me to quit my job so you can feel like you have a girlfriend?

This is the first time I'm doing something I actually care about, something that I'm actually good at.

I'm happy for you, but I'm tired of having a relationship with your answering machine!

I don't know what to do anymore. -- Neither do I!

I cannot keep having this same fight over and over again. You're making this too hard.
