

friends: jurassic parka /1/ the big deal

ROSS: So I nodded off a little. What's the big deal?

RACHEL: Ross, you were snoring. My father's boat didn't make that much noise when it hit rocks.

ROSS: Come on! The man talked about clothes for forty five minutes. I was bored out of my mind.

RACHEL: Okay, how does that compare with four hours in a freezing museum listening to Professor Pitstains and his 'Hey, remember that thing that's been dead for a gazillion years? Well, there's this little bone we didn't know it had.'

ROSS: First of all it's Professor Pittain! And second of all, that little bone proved that although that particular dinosaur had wings it didn't fly.

RACHEL: See now, what I just heard you say was blah-blah-blah.