

FRIENDS ... JURASSIC PARKA

ROSS: So I nodded off a little. What's the big _____?

RACHEL: Ross, you were snoring. My father's boat didn't make that much noise when it hit rocks.

ROSS: Come on! The man talked about clothes for forty five minutes. I was bored out of my _____.

RACHEL: Okay, how does that compare with four hours in a freezing museum listening to Professor Pittains and his 'Hey, remember that thing that's _____ dead for a gazillion years? Well, there's this little bone we didn't know it had.'

ROSS: First of all it's Professor Pittain! And second of all, that little bone proved that _____ that particular dinosaur had wings it didn't fly.

RACHEL: See now, what I just heard you say was blah-blah-blah.

ROSS: A million people went to see a movie about what I do, I _____ how many people would go see a movie called Jurassic Parka. A bunch of out-of-control jackets _____ an island. _____, what a thrilling story that would make.

RACHEL: If what I do is so _____, then why did you insist on coming with me this morning? Was it _____ I wouldn't go with Mark?

ROSS: No. It's just, I feel like lately you're _____ away from me. With this new job, and all these new people, you've got this whole other life going on. I know it's _____, but I hate that I'm not a part of it.

RACHEL: I actually like that you're not _____ in that part of my life. See, it doesn't mean that I don't love you. Because I do. But my work, I'm out there on my own, and it's _____ but I still love it, because it's mine.
