

hannah and a guy she used to date hannah is having a dinner party today she has invited a lot of her friends she is very happy to watch them having fun everyone wishes her happy birthday that's why there is a party, actually, it's hannah's birthday she likes to be surrounded by people she likes at one point hannah's sister holly walks over to her to tell her there is a guy here who wants to speak to her hannah gets very upset and starts yelling at her sister no one else was allowed to invite people and it seems like this guy hasn't been invited holly suggests that hannah should go talk to him anyway but there's a little problem; the guy only speaks english so hannah will have to use a language she's not very good at this will make it harder for her to tell him that she would like him to leave immediately when she gets closer to the guy she realizes that she used to date him a few years back good thing she's been drinking all day, at least she's not nervous