

karl's going-away party /2/ 10:30, still going strong

The party, which was announced with photocopied flyers to nearly every wall in the office, was to last from "5:30 p.m. til ???". "When our old receptionist Janice left last year, we had a party that maybe an hour," Roberts said. "There were maybe 10 people left the end. You'd that on a Friday, people would want to go home and get a on their weekend. I didn't leave my party until 10:30, and it was still going If anything, it seemed to be up speed." "I had to go," Roberts added. "I'd already heard that 'Na Na Na, Hey Hey Hey' song 30 times."

about » by » figure » head start » lasted » picking » scheduled » strong » taped