

THE LADY WRITES BIG NEWS

Anyway, to get to the Big News. After our stay in Europe, Canada really _____ look even more culturally bankrupt and boring than _____. It has no spirit, no passion, no identity. We received the news that _____ the year 2000, there will be 7 million people in Toronto (90% of whom will be non-European) with less than complete enthusiasm. We felt it would be nice to be back with one's own people while we are still young _____ to move.

We are also very excited by the idea of the United Europe (perhaps _____ more than about England, though we are very moved thinking about the English countryside, the sea, architecture, English church music, and the English people _____ kind and friendly, like the Czechs) - as they _____ to be.

What finally decided us - we have been talking about it for years - was that Paul's business plans _____ to pieces (Long Story, another time) and I too have been _____ for a real Job ever since I got back and have not even received a _____ reply (sorry, yes there was one and I go for interview on Wednesday).

applying » being » by » did » dropped » enough » even » ever » single » used