

THE LADY WRITES WHICH SPAIN DID YOU GO TO?

Well I thought it was certainly time _____ write to find out how all your adventures have _____ and whether you got through everything on your schedule. I hardly _____ hear from you as it seemed as if your feet would not be touching the ground _____ a couple of months. Have you landed yet? I thought probably, at least it _____ sending out a carrier pigeon message to find out.

I got your card from Spain _____ thank you. I thought you were probably spending a lot of intensive time in the Prado and other great _____ houses, but I was surprised when you said you found the countryside beautiful - I remember it as very parched and dry and rocky and not at all green and lovely and lush like our two countries. I _____ the people very kind and friendly, which was a surprise to me as I think I have somewhere a deep historical _____ Spain and the Spaniards.

The English have tended to think of the Spanish as very proud and macho, superstitious, cruel and backward, _____ themselves: but I understand that since they _____ of Franco they have become the most perfect modern and progressive Europeans, democratic, dynamic and forward-looking. What did you think of them?
