

lisa & michael ... ghost-fill ... JOHN

1

Lisa: Hi. My name is Lisa and we have never _____ and you have no idea who I am or why _____ you but I was wondering if maybe you could help me _____. Please, don't hang up.

Michael: Uh... ok.

Lisa: I'm an American, _____ you can probably tell from my accent. _____ in this town for a few weeks now and I _____ I'll be leaving any time _____. There's this other American girl _____ I live with, Mary. You _____ heard of her.

Michael: Uh... no.

2

Lisa: _____, we're living in this apartment near this kindergarten... why _____ you this? I'm sorry. The thing is, I think I'm going to _____ here for a while and I'm sort of _____ people to hang _____. So I went to this bar last night and I talked to this guy and he seemed pretty drunk but he gave me your number and he said you might be _____ talking to me and maybe help _____ a job.

Michael: Well...

3

Lisa: No, please hear me out. I'm not _____ I want or expect you _____ me a job. I just figured you _____ want to meet me and... I don't know. I've been _____ find someone who could explain to me how _____ work _____ here _____. I can talk to people. I mean, I wish _____ Czech and I could just ask people questions but obviously I _____ so I'm having a _____ fitting in. So any way, I was _____ if you'd be willing to explain a couple of things to me _____ I still find _____.

Michael: Sure, why not?

4

Lisa: Great. _____ meet at Mir?

Michael: Oh, so you _____ know Mir?

Lisa: Better than you do. _____ tomorrow at nine work for you? _____ the main entrance?

Michael: I'll be there. Wait, how do I know it's you?

Lisa: Well, for one thing, I speak pretty good English. Just kidding. I'll _____ at one of _____ long tables outside. I'm kind of short with wavy hair. Mary will be there too. And if you want to _____ someone with you, that would be great. _____ someone who speaks English.

Michael: All right, see you tomorrow _____, confused wavy-haired short American girl.

lisa & michael ... ghost-fill ... MARY

1

Lisa: Hi. My name is Lisa and we _____ never met and you have no idea who _____ or why I'm calling you but I _____ if maybe you could help me out. Please, don't hang _____.

Michael: Uh... ok.

Lisa: I'm an American, as you can probably _____ from my accent. I've been in this town _____ a few weeks now and I don't think I'll _____ any time soon. _____ this other American girl that I live _____, Mary. You may have _____ of her.

Michael: Uh... no.

2

Lisa: Anyway, we're living in this apartment _____ this kindergarten... why am I telling you this? I'm sorry. The _____ is, I think I'm going to be staying here _____ a _____ and I'm sort of looking for people _____ out with. So I went to this bar _____ and I talked to this guy and he seemed _____ drunk but he gave me your number and he said you _____ interested in _____ me and maybe help me get a job.

Michael: Well...

3

Lisa: No, please hear me _____. I'm not saying I want or _____ to get me a job. I just _____ you might want to meet me and... I don't know. _____ trying to find someone who could _____ me how things _____ around _____ so I can talk to people. I mean, I _____ I spoke Czech and I could just ask people questions but _____ I don't so I'm _____ a hard time _____. So anyway, I was wondering if you'd be _____ to explain a couple of things to me that I still _____ confusing.

Michael: Sure, why not?

4

Lisa: Great. Why don't we meet _____ Mir?

Michael: Oh, so you already know Mir?

Lisa: Better than you _____. Does tomorrow at nine _____ you? Outside the main entrance?

Michael: Ok, I'll be there. Wait, how _____ it's you?

Lisa: Well, for one thing, I speak pretty good English. Just kidding. I'll be sitting _____ one of those long tables outside. I'm kind of _____ with wavy hair. Mary will be there too. And if you want to bring someone _____, that would be great. Preferably someone _____ English.

Michael: All right, see you tomorrow then, confused wavy-haired short American girl.