

michael's story / 1 / meeting lisa

hello. my name is michael and I would like to tell you about a girl I know. she lives in california now but we used to spend a lot of time together when she was a teacher of english in the town where I lived. the town is called uherske hradiste and it really is a great place to live. I don't live there anymore because I have moved into a house in a small village nearby but I still go there almost every day. anyway, ten years ago I was living in an apartment in UH when I got a call from an american girl named lisa. she was looking for someone to hang out with who spoke good english and apparently someone gave her my number.
