yoga class (1) a vicious circle

Lauren: Excuse me. You can't do that. See, the roster is full. Adding names to the bottom is not _____ .

Lynette: I'm here for the 10 a.m. yoga class. I'm not late, am I? What, have all the spaces _____ taken?

Lauren: As a matter of fact they have. The class is _____ to start. I wish I could _____ you in but the day care center is full. I'm sorry but you should have _____ up earlier.

Lynette: Yeah, but every time I come here, it's full. How am I _____ supposed to get in?

Lauren: Well, you _____ have noticed that it's a popular class, and the other moms know _____ than to turn up at the last minute.

Lynette: Look, I'm a mother of four. Let me tell you what I've done today. I got up at five, made lunches, made breakfast, _____ the twins off at school, and made my way across town _____ a sick child.

Lauren: Look, I know how hard this must be for you but there's really nothing I can do at this _____ . All I can tell you is you'd _____ plan ahead next time.

Lynette: Lauren, telling me to plan ahead is like telling me to grow wings. And it's things like _____ told to plan ahead that make me so crazy that yoga is the only thing that relaxes me, _____ I show up here, and I can't get in, and you tell me to plan ahead. It's a _____ circle. See how that works?
